

Introduction

The Respiratory medicine department provides a variety of services for patients referred by their primary care provider or other hospital specialists.

The department offers consultant led services with specialist and subspecialist clinics provided by a dedicated team seeking to provide high quality assessment and treatment of a wide range of respiratory conditions.

Your consultant or specialist doctor will be able to discuss any examination findings and investigation reports with you during to your appointment and will liaise with your referring GP as required.

Before your appointment it may be helpful to note down your symptoms and keep a diary to determine whether the symptoms occur in a regular pattern. Please bring a list of any medications that you are taking with you. If you have previously had investigations such as an ultrasound prior to your appointment, it would be useful to bring the report with you, if you have these. If you have seen a consultant previously at another hospital, it would be useful to bring details of any consultations, treatments and investigations with you.

Specialist procedures offered include:

- Bronchoscopy
- Ultrasound guided pleural procedures
- Intrapleural catheters
- Polysomnogram
- Multiple sleep latency tests
- Multiple wake tests
- Overnight oximetry
- Domiciliary NIV/CPAP

GP and Primary Care services

GP practices help patients to manage most conditions and are able to determine whether additional investigations and referrals to hospital services are required.

GP practices continue to make best use of telephone, online and video consultations to enable the maximum number of patients to receive medical assessment and advice when it is required. Face-to-face appointments are routinely offered for those who need it.

When you phone or use an online form to contact your GP surgery to make an appointment, you will be asked some questions which are designed to help staff guide you to the most appropriate healthcare professional to help you with your condition. This could be a GP, nurse, clinical pharmacist, physician's associate, or paramedic.
