

My Planned Care Patient Information Platform

Vascular Surgery – Varicose Vein Surgery

Introduction

The COVID-19 pandemic has had a significant impact on the NHS ability to provide routine elective services. We recognise that patients are waiting longer than we would all like and it is not always possible to identify when treatment will take place. This document provides you with information on how you are able to support yourself while waiting to attend the hospital. The guidance has been written by clinicians who are responsible for your care. When you are waiting for further treatment it can sometimes feel like a long wait.

The information and advice here is aimed at helping you manage that wait so you arrive for your appointment in the best possible physical and mental health. The NHS has limited resources which means that we are unable to treat you as quickly as we would like. Each healthcare provider has to consider the type of help you need, how quickly you need treatment, the best course of action to help you and when and where you can be seen. The process of sorting patients based on their individual needs is called prioritisation. The system of prioritisation is applied consistently across the NHS to help us to decide the order in which patients receive their treatment.

This is essential to ensure that we provide care based on need. The system means that care is delivered in the fairest way possible. Once a referral has been made from primary care to secondary care, the specialist team conduct assessments and then agree with you on the right course of action. At this stage, the urgency will be assessed. If you have a long-term health condition, for example, you may need treatment faster than someone without.

Guidance for Patients

A Vascular surgeon has determined that surgical intervention is required to treat your vascular veins. The most common treatment options include:

- endothermal ablation – where heat is used to seal affected veins
- sclerotherapy – this uses special foam to close the veins
- ligation and stripping – the affected veins are surgically removed

Helpful information on what to expect from these treatments, how to prepare for the procedure, and what to expect post procedure can be found at <https://www.nhs.uk/conditions/varicose-veins/>

Procedure specific information is available at www.gloshospitals.nhs.uk/our-services/services-we-offer/vascular-surgery

Whilst you are waiting for your surgery, it is important that you look after yourself. Try to maintain a healthy lifestyle and a healthy and balanced diet to minimise the potential impact and frequency of your symptoms.

There may be occasions when additional scans or investigations are required despite you already having had a diagnosis and treatment plan. It is important that you attend these appointments, or let the hospital know urgently if you are unable to attend.

We will write to you with information regarding your procedure, what the intention of the appointment is, where to come and at what time. It is very important that you attend all appointments, and advise us if you are unable to attend for any reason.

Improving your general health will have a positive impact of your physical wellbeing; Whether you want to lose weight, get more active or quit smoking, there are many resources available at the Better Health website <https://www.nhs.uk/better-health>

Your mental wellbeing is also important and resources to help you can be found at <https://www.nhs.uk/every-mind-matters/mental-wellbeing-tips/top-tips-to-improve-your-mental-wellbeing>

What should I do if my health is deteriorating?

If your condition or symptoms change, please ensure that your GP is aware. They will be able to advise the appropriate actions to take whilst you wait for your first outpatient appointment with the Vascular surgeons.

If you have bleeding or significant bruising seek immediate attention. Call 111 for advice or if severe dial 999.

Take your medication

If you have been prescribed medication to manage your condition whilst you await treatment, it is important that you follow the instructions from the doctor or pharmacist who has prescribed this.

When taking medication you should always:

- Take it at the right time of the day and the dose recommended by your GP
- Check the instructions, to make sure you are taking it correctly. Some medications should only be taken with a meal, or with water or food.
- Use your own supply and never take medication prescribed for someone else

It is important to let your GP, Pharmacist or Consultant in charge of your care know if you experience any side effects as they may wish to review the dose, or the medications you take.

Before taking any over-the-counter medication or supplements, that you can buy without a prescription, it is important to check with your pharmacist to ensure there is no effect on your prescribed medications.
