

WHILE YOU WAIT FOR YOUR PROCEDURE

Unfortunately, waiting times have increased due to the COVID-19 social distancing restrictions necessary on the hospital site and because, during the pandemic, we have been providing extra support to other hospitals in the region. As a result, the number of patients we would normally see has been limited.

While you are waiting you can use any extra time in a positive way to help yourself to be healthier before your surgery. Here are the ways that you can put yourself in the best place to have your procedure.

MOVING MORE

"If physical activity were a drug, we would refer to it as a miracle cure, due to the great many illnesses it can prevent and help treat."

- Chief Medical Officer for the UK

National guidelines for physical activity recommend 150 minutes of moderate intensity per week or at least 75 minutes of intensity per week.

These websites have excellent resources to help children of all abilities to achieve these goals.

"While still in its early days, the website will only provide an average waiting time for all procedures across a particular specialty, and therefore this should not be taken as an exact measure of how long you will wait."

"Some procedures will happen more quickly, while others may take longer than the average wait time stated. More detailed information is expected to be included on the platform over time, as the site develops."

EATING MORE HEALTHILY

A healthy diet is important for development and even more essential before an operation. Preventing iron deficiency can reduce the risk of requiring a blood transfusion and improve recovery after major surgery. Iron rich diets are the best way to make this happen or sometimes iron supplements are needed to top up iron levels.

You can read more about the benefits of iron rich diets by searching 'NHSBT iron in your diet'. Find useful tips and ideas on eating more healthily at Change4Life:

MENTAL WELLBEING

The Mental Health Crisis Intervention Team is for adults aged 18 to 64. It is an urgent care service for people living in Hull and the East Riding of Yorkshire who are experiencing an acute mental health crisis. This service is community-based and includes doctors, psychologists, nurses, social workers, occupational therapists, healthcare assistants and associate practitioners.

We provide crisis interventions through telephone support, assessments and intensive community based treatment via the Home Treatment Team. Assessments and treatment can take place virtually via phone and video call, or in an appropriate community setting such as a NHS site, or your own home.

SOCIAL PRESCRIBING

Social prescribing is a way for local agencies to refer people to a link worker. Link workers give people time, focusing on 'what matters to me' and taking a holistic approach to people's health and wellbeing. They connect people to community groups and statutory services for practical and emotional support.

When social prescribing works well, people can be easily referred to link workers from a wide range of local agencies, including general practice, pharmacies, multi-disciplinary teams, hospital discharge teams, allied health professionals, fire service, police, job centres, social care services, housing associations and voluntary, community and social enterprise (VCSE) organisations. Self-referral is also encouraged.
