

Upper Gastrointestinal Surgery – Removal of Gall Bladder

Introduction

The Covid pandemic has had a significant impact on the NHS ability to provide routine elective services. We recognise that patients are waiting longer than we would all like and it is not always possible to know when treatment will take place. This document provides you with information on how you can support yourself while waiting to attend the hospital. The guidance has been written by clinicians who are responsible for your care.

Guidance for Patients

It is important that while you are waiting for your outpatient appointment or surgery you remain as active and as medically fit as possible. If you have any long-standing conditions such as high blood pressure you should attend regular reviews at your Doctor's surgery to make sure it remains well controlled.

Maintaining a well-balanced diet is also important, as is reducing any excessive weight that may be impacting on your general health. If you are a current smoker it would be advisable to seek support to help with stopping.

Keeping as Healthy as Possible Whilst You Wait Is The Most Important Thing You Can Do

In Mid and South Essex, we have developed comprehensive and free services that can help you to remain as healthy as you can or even improve your health and wellbeing whilst you wait.

Ensuring that you play your part by staying as healthy as you can, will give you the best treatment outcomes when you see your consultant and team.

The Chief Medical Officer for the UK said,

"If physical activity were a drug, we would refer to it as a miracle cure, due to the great many illnesses it can prevent and help treat."

Preparing Well with the Essex Wellbeing Service and Partners

Take Your Medication

Medicines are widely used by the NHS to prevent and treat poor health. When medicines are not taken or used properly, it can lead to poor and worsening health and wellbeing. Before taking any medication, carefully read all the instructions on the label and ask your doctor or pharmacist for help if you are not sure how to take them.

When it comes to getting the best from our medicines, we all need to know: it's OK to ask.

<https://meandmymedicines.org.uk/>

You need to know:

- ✓ When and how to take them
- ✓ what you should and shouldn't take them with – such as alcohol or food
- ✓ any side effects, both on its own or in combination with any other medication you're taking

What can I do?

- ✓ Learn about your medication
- ✓ Organise and plan your medication
- ✓ Take your medication as prescribed and complete the course

Read the written instructions that accompany your medication and keep in one place – in a drawer or folder – so that you know where to find them. You can also find information about prescription medication using the electronic Medicines Compendium.

Answers to common question about medicines can be found here: <https://www.nhs.uk/common-health-questions/medicines/>

General Health Advice

Like GPs, community pharmacists are part of the NHS family. Many community pharmacies are open long hours when other health care professionals are unavailable, with immediate access to a pharmacist for help and advice. Pharmacists are able to assess the clinical needs of patients and make appropriate referrals to other NHS services and healthcare professionals when appropriate. GP surgeries are open and are working differently to how they did before the COVID-19 pandemic. GP practices continue to make best use of telephone, online and video consultations. Face-to-face appointments are still being given to those who need it.

When you phone or use an online form to contact your GP surgery to make an appointment, you will be asked some questions which are designed to help staff guide you to the most appropriate clinical person to help you with your condition. This could be a nurse, clinical pharmacist, physician's associate, GP or paramedic.

Useful information related to Removal of Gall Bladder

If while waiting for removal of gall bladder surgery you should seek help via NHS Direct (Call 111) or your GP practice if you are experiencing any of the following circumstances:

Patient advice and Liaison Service (PALS)

If there is a problem, the best way to get it resolved is usually to tell someone there and then.

- On a ward, talk to the sister or charge nurse on duty.
- In a clinic/department, talk to the receptionist or a member of staff.

If you want to talk to a senior manager or to someone who has not been directly involved in your care and treatment, we can usually arrange this straight away during office hours. You can also ask to speak to a member of the PALS department.

If you need to contact the PALS services at our MSE hospitals, the contact details are below
