

Gynaecology Service – Ovarian Cystectomy

Introduction

The Covid pandemic has had a significant impact on the NHS ability to provide routine elective services. We recognise that patients are waiting longer than we would all like and it is not always possible to identify when treatment will take place. This document provides you with information on how you are able to support yourself while waiting to attend the hospital. The guidance has been written by clinicians who are responsible for your care.

Please read the following information in conjunction with the staying healthy guidance appropriate for your condition

Guidance for Patients

An ovarian cyst may be treated either through conservative treatment if the cyst is small and not thought to be causing significant issues. However if operative measure are needed these will be discussed in full in your consultation. There are two different approaches to the removal of the cyst from your ovary and will depend on the relative size and position of the cyst.

Further information can be found on the NHS website on the link below:

What should I do if my health is deteriorating?

If your health is deteriorating, you may need to be seen by your Consultant for review and further assessment and management. The secretarial numbers of the Gynaecological Consultants are shown below

In an emergency situation we would suggest you attend the Emergency Gynaecology unit for assessment.
